However, a message eaperts with a view to determining last what woods grow in the Alberta mountains, studying the various means that may be availed for premote and extend growth and to prevent destruction by forest fires.

The investigation was made by aparty headed by W. I. Margach, chief forest ranger for Alberta and A. Knechtel of Ottawa. dominion is spector of forestry. Other members of the party were Harry Baines and Fhill Weinard of High Sirver. The party traveled by park train and covered the greater part of the timp-bered areas of the mountains between the main line and The Pass.

The party outstited at High River to the foot Mist Mountain. From there is not of Mist Mountain. From there is not of Mist Mountain. From the control and down the Stoney trail to the foot of Mist Mountain. From the control and down the Stoney trail to the foot of Mist Mountain. From there is not sounded, waters of High River. Thence the route was to Suntiael Mountain where the Highwood range was crossed, thence down Salter river to Cateract in the main range, where the party struck the headwaters of Oyster. Creek and followed that stream down to the northwest branch with the Livingston, thence down to be northwest branch with the Livingston, thence down to Daisy Creek, over the height oil land to the headwaters of Gold Creek to Frank.

The trip is described as most pictures and wonderfully interesting. Besides the discoveries made by Mr. Knochtel, it was an eye opensor of the Child Hanger Margadh as to the needs of better protection against by Mr. Knochtel, it was an eye opensor of the Child Hanger Margadh as the party must have done great damage and the stream of the continent.

The first fire was succountered well up on Daisy creek along the trail be leave of Frank and the Work Fock, it was wall under way but all hands turned te and with frying pans and camp buckets and tools it was flandly put out. ### NEED OF FISH REGELATIONS.

NEED DY PISH REGELATIONS.

Some time since, The Frank Paper dealt editorially with the subject of the need of better fish regulations; basing its argument on the condition of the fishing at present in the South Fork of the Old Man which, it has been demonstrated has been fished out the last few years. Since that time, we have had other and better evidence of the soundness of our argument for more stringent regulations. The editor of this paper has injust returned from a fishing especiation to the North Fork of the Old Man where evidence of the utmost need of the enforcement of the most atringent regulations was found. Hithert other has been no stream in all Alberta that compared with the North Fork for good frout fishing. It has always been possible to take an angest pullwist executive research.

It has always been possible to take an almost unlimited number of take an almost unlimited number of irout-weighing from half a pound to irout-weighing from half a pound to irout-weighing from half a pound to it has bigh as three pounds. There are all up to have come over too stream in two has come over too stream in two trout there yet but what a difference has come over the stream in two years. In a weeks fishing not a trout was taken that went two pounds and not a dozen that would go over half or three quarters of a pound while the vast majority were really small flab, not many going beyond a quarters of a pound. One who shed the stream in the past requires no further evidence that it has been shockingly abused and that if it is not like the Middle and South forits, to be completely depleted of game fish or so nearly so that there is no pleasure in this play, arrong measures must be gdepted for its protection.

CANADA HOLDS THE KBY

It is only of late that our good neighbors to the south have begun to appreciate that they have cerepting to gain and nothing to loss by the removal of duty on coal. Indicatelly, they have discovered that Canada bolds the key to the coal situation with her immense deposits in the Crows Nest Pass district of southern Alberta and British Columbia.

southern Alberta and British Comm-bia.

If the truth were known, there is considerably more American capital invested in this section than British or Canadian, which fact all the more or Canadian, which fact all the more emphasizes the p- int that the Pacific-northwest depends largely on the Crow for its aupply of coal.

One of the revelations of the year was the opening up of six immense seems by the MoGillivray Creek Coal & Coke company. This company's holdings represent a total of 2600 acres of coal land lying directly north of the Canadian Pacific tracks. The property is estimated by competent engineers, to contain in excess of 75,00,000 tons of coal. The machiner; is fast being installed by the McGillivray Creek people, and construction of coke overs will begin early this falt.

Rumor has it that the entire output of this coal mine has been contracted for by one of the new transcontinental ratiroads, all of whom are known to have their eyes on promising properties in the Crow district. Certain it is that the preparations of the company indicate an extensive scale of marketing, both for the coal and coke.
